125 ANNIVERSARY OF SAINT VINCENT PREP

The Preparatory School

SAINT VINCENT COLLEGE
LATROBE, PA.

Dedication:

At a time when youthful dedications have become somewhat rare, there is nevertheless one outstanding figure, an unforgettable person, to whom the Class of 1971 wishes to pay a special tribute. To us, he is a man who was a constant, loyal friend, ever while superintending us. He is a man who has been loved and respected by each individual remaining in our class, as well as by those who through the years have left. He worked in the Prep school for only one year, serving as our freshman prefect. A year later, his desire to be a missionary took him into Brazil, where even today he continues to work. We feel an unparalleled closeness to this gentleman, since we were the only class who ever had the privilege of really getting to know him. Because he treated us with a surprisingly genuine submissiveness, we were better able to cope with the crises of adjusting to our life away from home. Some people say that the college years are life's most formative ones. We have been undergoing a rather searching process during our Prep life. We began these few years with the advice and counsel of a man whose influence is still apparent in us today. The tribute which we have paid this man has not been a matter of debate. Our feelings toward him have moved us to somehow express our gratitude. Consequently, at the time of the 125th anniversary celebration, with every sincere respect, the Class of 1971 dedicates this small edition of the Chronicle to Dr. Leobert Luge, S. L. B.

Michael John Begolly
Vandergrift, Pa.

Delighting in his classical record collection, Mike is the silent intellectual of the class. As editor of the Chimes, reputed pianist, and member of the Gifted Seniors Program, he showed unusual initiative and organizing ability. Serving for three years as manager of the soccer and basketball teams, he donated his time generously to the Prep sports program. Mike was an active member of several Prep clubs, among which were the National Honor Society, Glee Club, Mission Society, and Forensics League. Usually being quite soft-spoken, Mike could often be seen quietly strolling around campus. When in a rowdy mood, you'd probably find him secluded in some choral room beating on the keyboard, since he admires Beethoven and Bach, to say the least. Although he's not very athletically inclined, he could really overpower anyone with his stoic stare. All in all, Mike is a very nice guy. Comments? Criticisms? Suggestions?

John Vincent Brown
Pitcarin, Pa.

During his four years in the Prep, John has always carried around a peaceful attitude, a mature disposition, and a social facility that we've probably all envied at one time or another. Participating often in school activities, his was a familiar face on the Forensics scene, where he held a position on the debate team. With the arrival of basketball season, John contributed time regularly as scorekeeper and statistician. An ardent supporter of the social committee, he helped promote a casual relationship between St. Xavier's and the Prep. But confinement to one interest didn't appeal to him, so John extended his participation into other areas, a few of which being Schola and the Mission Society. John has also been a three-year member of the Glee Club. More than anything else, we'll probably all remember his quiet mannerisms and refined attitudes. John's future plans include study for a career in business. We all wish him the best of luck both in his studies and in his life, wherever his interests may lead him.

John Joseph Concannon
Johnstown, Pa.

John's unhurried, easy-going manner has gone well with just about everyone since we've known him. But even though he's usually quiet, he's not inactive. A long-time member of the Glee Club, he's one of the few who have participated during all four years at the Prep. John's also involved in other activities, including the J.C.L. and the Missions. During his last year at the Prep, he was chosen as a Senior member of the newly formed Academic Planning Committee. Although he's a lanky 6 feet tall, not even basketball was his bag. But this was sort of typical, because you could never really be quite sure of what he'd be into next. When intramurals rolled around, he was always there, frothing with spirit. He was an exceptionally vigorous advocate of tennis, football, and German class. But, all in all, John's an "all-right guy" and we all wish him the best of luck in whatever he chooses to do.

Michael Donald Farabaugh
Carrolltown, Pa.

Mickey's sense of humor is probably his most marked personality trait, but his taste for adventure has to be a close second. Being a pretty active guy athletically, Mick was one of the hottest halfbacks that ever hit the Prep, earning 2 letters for his contribution to the soccer team. He further served the athletic department as President of the Varsity Club. When he wasn't in bed (sleep happened to be one of his hangups) he participated in intramural football and volleyball, and he dominated the table in ping-pong. Mickey also took part in spring softball. Although breakfast and "housework" weren't his favorite subjects, Mick also did pretty well academically. In spite of his happy-go-lucky attitudes, he always came through when it counted. Mick is looking forward to a career in French, but whatever he may decide on, he's sure to succeed. From what we've seen of Mickey's athletic and academic ability in the Prep, we all know that he'll accomplish whatever he is determined to do.

Bernard Regis Gonda
Ligonier, Pa.

Bernie was one member of our class who always seemed to stand out. His diligence was an example to us all; he put out his best in whatever he did, no matter how unimportant it seemed. Some of us will remember him passing out after soccer games. Some of us who lived with him will remember his profound conversation, his sagacious insights, and his reliable advice. But Bernie was far from melodramatic; one minute he'd be lighthearted, maybe with a corny joke, and the next he might be reading you some of his poetry. It's really hard trying to sum up Gonda in a few sentences. But those who have known him closely will always be grateful for the help he's given us, the times he's listened, and the problems we've shared. He's worked especially hard for the Chimes this year, serving as our unusually versatile Staff Member. He also held positions as class treasurer and as a vice-president of the Student Council. And, as for his work in the Mission Society, he's done a hundred times his share. From knowing Bernie at the Prep, we all know that whatever he chooses to do now, he'll work hard at, and succeed.

Joseph Francis Haluska
Hastings, Pa.

During the past four years, Joe has shown great versatility by his participation in various academic and athletic activities. As president of both the Senior class and the Student Council, he's demonstrated his qualities of leadership, candor, and honesty. While serving as a member of the Academic Planning and Steering committees, he continued to further develop his leadership abilities. Being elected Literary editor of the Chimes gave Joe the opportunity to exhibit his superior literary talent. Joe was rewarded for his academic ability by being named to the National Honor Society. He was an active member of the J.C.L. and attended several State and national conventions, and during his Sophomore year he was elected State Treasurer of the Pa. J.C.L. But Joe's attitudes were not confined to an academic sphere. As co-captain of the Varsity soccer team, 2 year letterman, and high scorer for the past season, Joe excelled athletically. He also participated in basketball and intramural sports. Joe will always be remembered for his leadership abilities, but most of all for his sincerity.

William James McLaughlin
West Mifflin, Pa.

Bill is a pretty active guy, which is part of the reason he was elected Business Manager of the Chimes. He is an effective planner, who, by the 15th of one month, can't wait to see how the next will be shaped. Bill has expressed himself athletically by being a member of both the soccer and basketball teams. Unfortunately he was sidelined this past soccer season with a broken foot. With a look at "Tuber's" academic profile, one can see that language was his thing, although we all remember some of his finer days in geometry class. But, then again, that's a language all its own. As far as organizations go, Bill showed a wide interest by holding memberships in several Prep clubs. He aided in the work of the Mission Society and Glee Club, and the J.C.L. just wouldn't be the same without our only Irishman. Maybe that's why he and Mr. Rafferty got along so well.

Bill also held an unusual Prep office, that of Sports News Reporter, and one of his duties was to publicize Prep scores and statistics. Academically quite flexible, Bill could choose any of a number of fields of study in future pursuit.

Jon Frederick Morris
Jeannette, Pa.

If there was ever anyone in our class who could always be counted on to lift our spirits in time of trial, it had to be "Ortz." Unanimously elected "most changed Senior" during four years in the Prep, we'll all remember how he progressed from a small, shy kid to the class's only "hippie." But Jon didn't allow himself to be constrained to meditation. He's demonstrated his dynamicism through his efforts as a tennis and volleyball enthusiast, and as a great vocal artist. Jon's liberalism, shown by both his beliefs and actions, have contributed highly to the progress of our class as a whole and to our growth as individuals. Among other things, his open-mindedness and progressivism typify the Spirit of '71, and also that of "unity but individuality." Perhaps the most memorable thing about Jon is his personal unselfishness. He'd sacrifice for others when it really counted. His ethics, morals, and beliefs combined in his personality, forming a true flower child. Never a person to bear a grudge, he has always been known as one of the friendliest personalities of our Class.

Michael Alan Mueller
Latrobe, Pa.

There really isn't enough space here to describe Mike adequately, but we're hoping he won't hold it against us. His personality is spiced with his logic and a scientifically oriented mind, but his big interest is in music; he probably values his record collection above all else, unless it's the campus' German cuisine. When it comes to sports, he's well rounded intramurally, being a regular at football, tennis, weightlifting, and volleyball. As for his spirit, he's undertaken the role of mascot, wearing the Bearcat suit at the past season's Prep basketball games. Mike has been an occasional participant in Forensics, and has also contributed effort in the ranks of the Religious Committee. He showed unusual generosity by his willingness to use his car for taking guys to soccer games, out to Greengate, or even just into town. As for the future, Mike looks forward to a career in science and may be some football on the way. He's got what it takes for both. We all wish him Good Luck!

William Joseph Murray
Stamford, Conn.

Bill has always had a sort of uniqueness about him ever since first day, freshman year. He's hard to describe, because his personality is the product of many different environments. He's our class's only "out-of-stater" and that says a lot when you're talking about free weekends. Maybe that's why he's so active in school affairs. Being elected president of the Prep's J.C.L. didn't keep him too busy to express his interests in the Missions, Glee Club, and in sports; he lettered in soccer. The Schola provided Bill with an opportunity to show his leadership, and he participated actively in it. Perhaps the one virtue that best characterized Bill during his Prep life was his initiative. Whether it was starting a class discussion on a shaky subject, or just planning social events, he was uninhibited and versatile. His audacity has enabled him to become involved in various activities and his self confidence has won him esteem from teachers and students alike. Bill's capacity for accomplishment has been great, and with it, he is sure to succeed. Long after we've ceased living together as a class, we'll all remember Bill as one of a kind.

Francis James Novak
Pittsburgh, Pa.

In our class, Frank's been known as the "Big Boy," and it's no wonder. At 6 feet, 4 inches tall, (with a size 13 ring) he towers above us all. But he's not only big in stature, he's got an equally big heart. To his friends, and those who have known him well, "Unk" is really a considerate king of guy. When asked for help, he would always go out of his way to lend a hand. But Unk is hardly compliant, and in no way withdrawn. He's voiced his opinion many times, and regardless of the opposition, he's refused to let anyone inhibit his judgments. Frank has expressed himself athletically in varsity soccer, basketball, and nearly every intramural sport in the Prep. His determination and perseverance has truly been admirable, as has been stated by several Prep coaches. In spite of the odds, he always hung in there, no matter how tough it got. We'll never forget Unk's unfailing ability to come up with a corny joke at the right time. Whatever he chooses to do in the future, he'll succeed through his spunk. Good Luck Unk,

William Jeffery Policicchio
Vandergrift, Pa.

"Diddley" is another of the athletes in our class, having earned two letters in each of soccer and basketball. Although he often suffered from a recurring leg injury, Jeff always bounced back, time after time. His athletic interests have also led him to the position of vice-president to the Varsity Club. But Jeff isn't all sports. He's displayed his academic endeavors through his work as representative of the Senior class and as a member of the Student Council. Music was one of Jeff's interests, along with creative writing. Several of his interests reflected his personality, but his desire to play basketball and his determination in it best showed his character. In his attitudes he's somewhat of a moderate-liberal, as is the whole class, in general. We'll probably remember Jeff most for his unique story-telling ability, through which he proved that truth is stranger than fiction. But whatever the subject, Bo Didd is sure to keep you smiling. As for the future, Jeff's looking forward to a career in law. We all wish him Good Luck.

Carrolltown, Pa.

Throughout his four years at the Prep, Rick has always done a fine job academically. In addition to being a member of the Gifted Seniors Program, Rick holds a position in the National Honor Society. He also belongs to the Varsity Club, earning a letter for his services to the soccer team as a left wing. He served as class secretary during his senior year and participated in the Student Council. Rick's got a system for everything; his orderliness is one of his most evident qualities, and because of this he was elected to the Chimes staff as layout manager. As for clubs and activities, Rick held memberships in the Glee Club and the J.C.L. And believe it or not, he's in the "Huckleberry Hound Fan Club"; he's even got a card to prove it! Rick extended his participation in the Student Council through his membership in the Religious Committee. He has one of the lightest hearts in our class, and has contributed a lot to our spirit. He's a "half-cool guy who will always be our friend."

Edward Gordon Smith
Portage, Pa.

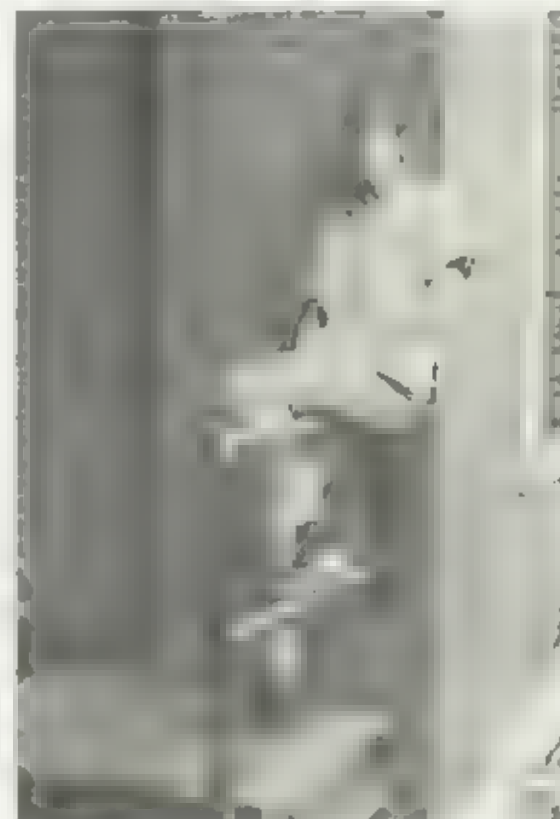

Eddie has been active in several Prep organizations, some of which were the National Honor Society, the Missions, and the Literary Discussion Group. He has attended two State conventions of the Junior Classical League, and three nationals, and during his Junior year, Ed served as State Treasurer of the Pa. Chapter of the J.C.L. He's also a member of the Varsity Club, having earned 2 letters in soccer and 1 in basketball. Ed was also co-captain of the varsity soccer team during the past season. On the intramural scene, he's regularly taken part in football, and during the spring off-season, he's helped organize the softball teams. During the past year, Ed contributed a lot of time and effort to organizing and managing the weekend visiting program. Never ducking responsibility, he has sacrificed many a free weekend for this worthy cause. As for the future, Ed's looking forward to study in the field of Business Administration. The academic record of his four years in the Prep shows that his chances of success are good, regardless of the course of study he might choose to follow.

Michael Andrew Sweeney
Johnsonburg, Pa.

Mike's ancestry has baffled us for a long time, but he must have descended from someone athletic if he's any reflection. Being a four-time letterman (2 years soccer, 2 years basketball), he's proved an invaluable asset to the sports scene in the Prep. But don't be misled, he's not a complete jock. Mike has been known to come up with some surprisingly mature insights on at least one occasion. Really, if it's vocabulary etymology and definition you want, Mike's outstanding in the hall? If it's a friend you need some snowy weekend, or some backup muscle in time of crisis, he's more than reliable. Clubs? Glee, for one. Mike's pretty active when it comes to organizations. First and foremost, he was chairman of the Social Committee, following up as a vice-president of the Senior class and treasurer of the Student Council. He's no slouch academically, either, showing that he can work hard no matter what the job.

fr jerome

The 1970-71 academic year marked an outstanding milestone for a highly respected member of the St. Vincent Prep Faculty. Fr. Jerome Rupprecht, O.S.B., instructor in geometry and trigonometry, proudly celebrates his fiftieth year of teaching in the Prep. Fr. Jerome is also known throughout the campus as Curator of the St. Vincent Community Museum and caretaker of the lake area. Now in his forty-ninth year of the priesthood, he is esteemed by both students and faculty alike as one of the most competent teachers of the Prep staff.

quasquicentennial anniversary

In 1846, Saint Vincent was founded by Abbot Boniface Wimmer and a small band of Bavarian monks. In the one hundred and twenty-five years since then, St. Vincent has become an education center in what had previously been a wilderness area. On this quasquicentennial celebration, we residents of St. Vincent cannot help but look back and imagine what life at St. Vincent was like at that time and how it has since progressed. From that small nucleus has grown a large, complex institution which is the home of Boniface Wimmer's successors and an institution of learning for future generations. Over a century of growth, a unique tradition has developed which will undoubtedly affect those living and working here throughout their lives. In appreciation of that fact, we, the students of St. Vincent Prep, take pride and honor in being a part of this tradition and in celebrating this anniversary.
